Dr. Montgomery joins CSVR !

We are happy to announce that Stephanie Montgomery, O.D. will join CSVR in July. Dr. Montgomery is a native of Tennessee. She graduated from Birmingham Southern College and completed her Optometric training at University of Alabama School of Optometry. Her primary professional interest is in Low Vision Optometry. Her evaluation can include people with refractive disorders, myopia (near-sightedness) and many other problems causing or contributing to impaired vision. Dr. Montgomery will evaluate for and prescribe prisms, biotic glasses, as well as telescopes and other special optical aids and devices for distant and near vision. Dr. Montgomery will add another dimension to our capability to help people with low vision.

If you would like to see Dr. Montgomery call our offices at-251-476-4744 in Mobile, 251-928-2888 in Fairhope or 334-782-3557 in Montgomery

Dr. Joe Fontenot, our medical director is an associate member of the American Academy of Ophthalmology. He was honored by the American Academy of Ophthalmology by being appointed as a member of the Vision Rehabilitation Committee. One of only 8 members, he helps the organization set standards and oversee educational outreach programs. He recently gave, on May 4th, Grand Rounds to the LSU/Oschner Clinic Ophthalmology department in New Orleans, representing this committee.

Carol Evans, OTR/L is our Occupational Therapist, teaching patients how to make the most of their remaining vision or developing blind skills. A dedicated professional, she will make home visits and train in all aspects of daily living.

EVENTS

On June 9, 2011, CSVR, along with Springhill Hospital, presented an educational and screening program on Eye Disease. Held at the VIA Center in Mobile, approximately 70 people attended, and audience participation was vigorous. Free Vision screening was offered by the Mobile Lions Club, and 50 individuals were screened. Dr. Curtis Graf, Jr. spoke on Glaucoma and Dr. Charles Salisbury presented a talk on Diabetic eye disease. Dr. Fontenot and Carol Evans OTR/L spoke on the rehabilitation aspects of vision loss.
